

wedi PreLine

Prefabricated element for use with hot water heating systems

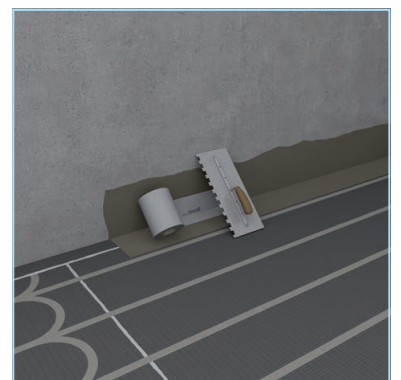

The wedi PreLine is a fully prepared building board element for easy installation of hot water heating systems. Factory integrated recesses allow for quick and safe installation of water pipes whilst strong insulation properties of the material itself prevent heat escaping to the ground thus promote a balanced heat distribution across the entire space.

Sealing of intersections

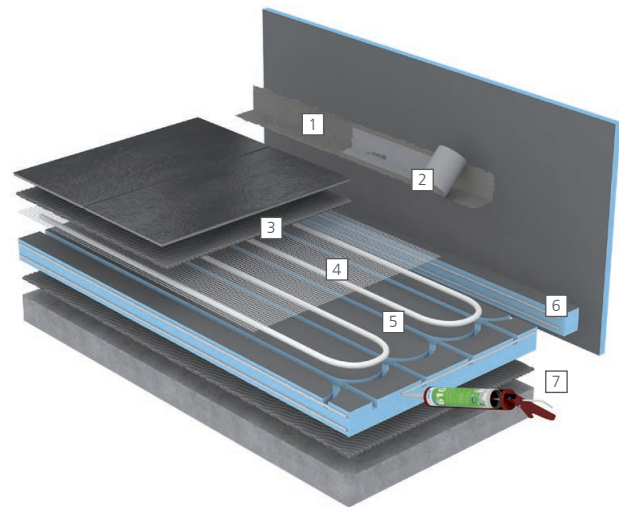

Sealing of joint areas

Sealing of wall/floor connections

Quick. Reliable. Warm.

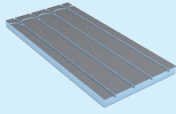

The prefabricated wedi PreLine allows for quick and waterproof implementation of underfloor heating. The water pipes are simply laid in the integrated recesses (recommendation: aluminium PEX Ø16 mm) and backfilled using wedi 320 tile adhesive.
